Children Investigate the Environment

Children Investigate the Environment (CIE) is the Armory's flagship education program. Since 1989, CIE has inspired thousands of 4th graders from Pasadena Unified School District (PUSD) to hone their critical thinking skills, make real-world connections to environmental sciences, and appreciate Pasadena's natural wonders through the lens of art.

Now more than ever, we must cultivate stewards of our environment. Pasadena is blessed with lush and diverse ecosystems, most of which are the traditional, ancestral, and unceded land of the Gabrielino Tongva people. CIE transforms Pasadena's natural environments into classrooms where children have the unique opportunity to build skills to protect nature by connecting with the land and its history, understanding the importance of protecting our environment, and beginning a lifelong love of hiking as a healthy, recreational activity.

Children Investigate the Environment (CIE) is an ongoing partnership between the Armory and the Pasadena Unified School District. CIE is made possible by support from the Institute of Museum and Library Services, the Dwight Stuart Youth Fund, and the Sahn Family Foundation.
