

Faculty Spotlights

Sandra Gallegos

MFA - CSULB in Painting and Drawing

BA - UCLA in Painting, Sculpture, Graphic Arts

2009 Armory Fellow

Sandra is a painter and collage artist. She uses images from a lifelong collection of paper, miniatures, and photographs of her travels in her work. She enjoys the hunt and rescuing of images that others may find mundane. These searches make her confident that she has discovered a unique element to include in her work. She believes color, composition, and attention to detail are important. She tends to work in a series and when finished moves on to a different narrative. She likes odd narratives.

Sandra has exhibited in Orange County Center for Contemporary Art, W. Keith and Janet Kellogg University Art Gallery, and Gallery 210. Her work has been published in Art Scene, The Open Daybook, and New American Paintings.

Take an Art Class with Sandra!

Sandra teaches many art classes for Children such as:

My Paintings

Fantastic Flowers

Kites, Planes & Rockets

Designing Robots

Sandra also teaches for Adults:

Collage & Assemblage

